US Beltie News

President Greg Hipple

Welcome to the last quarter of 2016. Amazingly it seems we are in the twilight of another calendar year. For me personally, the first three quarters of this year brought excitement, anticipation, reality, and hard work. Now we are about to head into what we in agriculture enjoy the most--harvest. I am very anxious about the row crops, happy with the calf crop, and disappointed with the markets for both. I remember being told by my father and grandfather about how farmers pay retail for their supplies and inputs, but receive wholesale for their production. It is funny about how they were right. Perhaps we should try to change that.

We just returned from the 2016 World Beef Expo in Milwaukee, WI. It was a relaxing and enjoyable four days to say the least. Old friendships were renewed, new acquaintances were made, and the cattle were exceptional. The lower sale prices were observed there as well. From conversations that I was part of, the low prices weighed on the minds of the producers.

I have mentioned in my prior messages that I always come away from gatherings among cattle-minded people with something and World Beef Expo was no different. I picked up several ideas to try to improve the prices I get for my cattle. I was also offered several tips for promotion and advertising. The information was there. I just had to ask because it wasn't a big secret. I think we all can learn by finding things to help get through this "cycle" as analysts call it. Please remember that the Society can help members with free online and newsletter advertising of your cattle. We also offer paid advertising within the newsletter and beltie.org. Please feel free to take advantage of any offer we have available to help promote your farm or ranch.

These next few weeks will no doubt be busy as we all gather the bounty of this year's production. A very wise man told me once, "We wait all year for this, there's no reason to hurry through it." Remember, agriculture is one of the most dangerous occupations. Please be careful and stay safe as you bring in your harvest.

A Former Show Steer Named "Dunny"

Editor's Note: A special bond is formed between show steers and their owners. Here is a fun story about a show steer owned by the Terry Willis family from Belvidere, Illinois and how Marlow and Jon Peters from Dresden, Tennessee gave Dunny a forever home.

Terry and Julie Willis from Sunnybrook Farms in Belvidere, Illinois.

Sometimes you are blessed with a person, event, or animal, that defines your childhood or impacts you in a way you will never forget. Dunny, our sons' show steer, would be one of those animals. The day we walked Dunny (or officially Uphill Gunner 9397-D) off of the trailer we knew we had a special steer. We just didn't realize it. Not only did he turn out to be a great show steer, but a real character as well. Dunny won almost every Beltie show he attended, turned the heads of many judges, and beat his share of other breed steers along the way.

In those days, many Belted Galloway youth attended Beltie Camp at the University of Tennessee-Martin and our sons, Chris and Steve, took him to Beltie Camp. The beauty of Beltie Camp was that all youth could take their animal with them for a week of education and show skills. Upon their return from camp and to our complete surprise, Dunny was so tame that Steve jumped on him and rode him to the barn. That day, Julie decided to outfit Dunny with a blanket, saddle, bridle, and a bit. Julie placed the bit in his mouth and said, "I don't think he will like this." To our amazement he was perfectly fine and he was now equipped to ride.

A real show steer plus a breed ambassador.

We have no idea how many kids and adults that Dunny entertained at shows and fairs that year. He was a hit at local petting farms as well. Dunny would hang his head over the gate into the aisle as kids, adults, elderly, and handicapped folks passed through the barn. Their eyes would light up when they petted his big furry head. Dunny also participated in a Halloween contest at a local store. He was truly a Beltie ambassador for our breed that year!

As the year wore on, we were worried and upset when we thought about the "end of the trail" for Dunny. But fate stepped in and we were contacted by Marlow and John Peters of Dresden, Tennessee. They saw Dunny at Beltie Camp and explained that their plan was to own one animal of all three Belted Galloway colors. They thought he was special and wanted to save him from the normal end of a steer's life – the dinner table. They assured us that he would have a long and happy home with them. Thus, Dunny began the next part of his amazing life.

John Peters from Dresden, Tennessee remembers.

The first memorable story I can recall of Dunny is when he was being shown for the last time at North American International Livestock Exposition in Louisville, Kentucky. After the competition was over, and Dunny had been declared Grand Champion Steer, someone put a saddle on him. One of the Willis boys got on him and he was riding him around like a horse. Standing behind me were two tall, lean, mustached fellows. They were the very image of what a cowboys look like as they chewed tobacco with their thumbs in their belts. After watching Dunny, one of them turned to the other and said, "Now ain't that the darndest thing you ever saw?"

It was indeed! I'm pretty sure there has not been anything like Dunny in the whole history of the cattle world. The only thing that comes to mind is a cross between two fictional animals, Babe the Blue Ox and Ferdinand the Bull.

Dunny is a lovable, very large bundle of curly hair. He will let three kids sit on his back all at the same time or recline against him in the pasture as if he were a sofa. He will lick the gloves off of your hands or the bottom out of a bucket looking for treats or that last bit of feed. Dunny will nudge you like a cat looking to be stroked or just stand there and give you a look that melts your heart. Those cowboys were way more right than they knew. Dunny is the darndest thing anyone has ever seen!

Added note: Dunny just celebrated his 13th birthday with the Peters. He enjoyed a lot of brushing and cow cookies.

The 2016 National Belted Galloway Show in FREEDOM HALL

Past President Michelle Ogle

I hope you are making plans to attend and witness the inaugural occasion that the Belted Galloway breed will show on the green shavings in Freedom Hall at the North American International Livestock Exposition in Louisville, Kentucky! I know there are many exhibitors who are excited about this opportunity. We have a super line-up of cattle, embryos and semen to be sold. Every member of the Belted Galloway Society will receive a sale catalog in late October. I hope to see you there!

The 2016 Belted Galloway Journal

Jon Bednarski, Chairman of the Advertising and Promotion
Committee

As I write this update, the 2016 Belted Galloway Journal is being mailed to you our members.

It takes a group effort to put the Journal together each year, but I want specifically thank our newsletter editor Leanne Fogle for her extra work. She keeps us on task and goes above and beyond to make the Journal happen.

We are sending the Journal to each member of the Society. We hope that you might share any extra copies your farm may receive with a prospective cattle buyer or member. The Belted Galloway Journal is our biggest print promotion of the year and it gives our advertisers a chance to highlight their farms and ranches.

If you have a special event or show you are promoting or attending and need additional copies, please contact our Executive Director Vic Eggleston. Thanks to all of you for supporting the Journal!

Buckle Championships

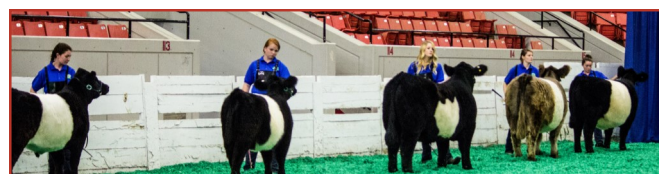

Janie Tripp, Co-Chair of the Belted Galloway Junior Association

The Belted Galloway Junior Association is celebrating the 20th anniversary of our organization during 2016. As part of our anniversary celebration, a BGJA Jackpot Steer Show will be held during the Kathi Jurkowski Junior Show in Louisville, Kentucky.

The Grand Champion steer will be awarded a $1000 cash prize and the Reserve will win $500! This is a first in the history of our breed and it is exciting to offer this caliber of a prize. A junior program of activities and contests will also be held and six buckles will be awarded to the Grand and Reserve Champion Heifers, Steers and Appendix Heifers.

A donation of $50, $75, or $100 will generously support our youth. Please make your check out to: Belted Galloway Junior Association. In the memo line place the words: Jackpot Buckle.

Mail your donation to: Janie Tripp, 3037 Melvin Mason Rd. SE, Brookhaven, MS 39601.

Reminder Silent Auction to Benefit the National Belted Galloway Junior Show

Show organizers will hold a silent auction to help fund ribbons and trophies for the Kathi Jurkowski National Belted Galloway Junior Show at the North American Livestock Exposition during 2017. Please plan to donate and participate in the Silent Auction during the Annual General Meeting and Premium Sale at the Hilton Garden Inn.

DNA Fees

As of July 1, 2016, the fee for establishing DNA parentage will be reduced to $45. This is a $5 reduction from the previous fee. DNA testing may be done using a sample of blood, hair or semen from your animal. Hypotrichosis testing may also be done at the same time for an additional fee of $20. Please contact Vic Eggleston to generate the paperwork required for testing. The member requesting the test will mail the sample to UC Davis and the results will be forwarded to the member by Eggleston.

Deceased Animals

Please return registration papers to the CLRC when an animal within your herd is deceased. It ensures that the Society database has the most up-to-date information.
