

President Dawson Masters

Welcome spring! On March 24, 2019, the Council held the spring meeting in Fredericksburg, Texas. What a perfect time to have all my northern friends and Council members to come down to Texas. The weather was in the mid-50s at night and upper 70s during the day. The bluebonnets and the other wildflowers were in full bloom. We all had an outstanding time showing Council a small part of Texas. I have to give the members and board of the Southwest Belted Galloway group all the credit. They had a fantastic show with over 50 Belties exhibited and over a hundred people in attendance. We were able to teach Leanne Fogle how to use the word y'all and Greg Hipple went back to Iowa with a perfect Texas tan on his face!

The Council had a great deal of committee reports and business to go over. on behalf of the Belted Galloway Society. One of the most exciting items on the agenda was the planning of the 2020 World Conference at Louisville, Kentucky. I hope everyone will be able to attend some of the events that week. Council also approved the recommendations from the junior show committee to mirror the open show rules for the 2019 National Junior Show at NAILE. The Council was able to hear recommendations from an exploratory committee that has been working hard on the concept to create a junior board made up of junior members throughout the country. The Council has approved the services of Mike Jones, auctioneer, to manage the 2019 Premium Sale at Louisville, Kentucky. In this issue, you will find the show rules that Council approved for the 2019 National Show. If you are going to attend, please be sure to read the rules! There are additional junior show animal ownership dates that you will need to review in the committee reports. During the SWBA meeting, Council reviewed concerns from members regarding registrations held up at the CLRC. Vic Eggleston offered suggestions and advice to solve their concerns.

Members of Council have experienced their names used by email spoofing scammers. False email accounts in Council member's names were created. The scammers later emailed members of the Belted Galloway Society. The scammers are directing Society members to click on a link and donate money. Please do not respond to these emails, or send funds through any link in an email, that asks you for funds on behalf of the BGS.

I hope everyone has enjoyed the past newsletters that highlighted some of our dynamic youth that we have in this breed. There are some great opportunities coming up for any junior member during April and May. The NEGG is the hosting the Northeast Regional Junior National Belted Galloway in Fryeburg, Maine in April. The KK Show Camp hosted by Kathi Jurkowski in Rockton, Illinois is on the schedule for May with Chuck McCullough from Iowa teaching.

As we study the future of this breed, and how it continues to grow to be an outstanding breed in the cattle industry, we do not have far to look because of our exceptional young people. I just wish I could highlight every junior member in the newsletter. I enjoyed presenting the Debbie Masters Show Award to two incredible young showmen at the Fredericksburg show. Congratulations to Caroline and Evelyn Haverkorn from Texas.

Klover Korner Farm in Rockton, Illinois is hosting a camp for Belted Galloway youth May 17-19, 2019. Chuck McCullough, McCullough Fitting Clinics, Allerton, Iowa will cover how to feed, wash, clip, and train a show animal. To conclude the camp, juniors will have the opportunity to show off their skills in showmanship classes. A $50 deposit (full camp fee) is required to reserve a spot at camp.

McCullough Fitting Clinics travel all over the United States teaching people how to clip, fit, and show cattle. They also write the Cattle Chat article in the magazine Livestock Plus. ing with you.

Jon Bednarski informed Council that he is anticipating the attendance of 150-200 world-wide delegates for the 2020 World Galloway Conference to be held in November 2020 during NAILE in Louisville, KY. A video to promote the event is live and on YouTube. The itinerary is finalized, and the Society is paying deposits for various venues. A website will be available for registration. A logo has been designed. Registration fees for the delegates will be $495 per attendee. An early bird rate will also be offered to delegates. The video and website will be linked to beltie.org. Bednarski asked the show/sale committee to work with NAILE to accommodate the delegate tour. Debby Nichols from Connections in Louisville, KY will produce the 2019 Belted Galloway Journal. The advertising campaign will begin in April 2019. Editorial is being sought for the 2019 Belted Galloway Journal.

Budget. Council approved the budget with additional budgeting funding for the World Galloway Congress. Vic Eggleston noted there may still be an outstanding balance owed to NAILE for the 2019 show that is not reflected in the budget presented. Eggleston commented that profits have increased for the past few years because of the Canadian-United States monetary exchange. Jon Bednarski reminded Council that the Belted Galloway Society is a non-profit organization.

Chatfield Scholarship Committee. Vic Eggleston reported that applications are due at the end of April 2019. Three applications have been submitted to date.

Executive Committee. The Council reviewed the contracts for the offices of the Executive Director and Newsletter. Council approved the budgeted recommendations.

The Belted Galloway Foundation. Vic Eggleston reported BGJA Area 5 applied for funding BGJA funding. A meeting of the Foundation will be scheduled soon. Total Foundation funds: $46,279. Individual fund balances include: General Fund: $14,294; Scholarship $12,219; Junior: $19,766.

Belted Galloway Junior Association. Council approved the following recommendations made by chair Janie Tripp. Beginning in 2019 the junior show will use the same format as the open show and include the following divisions: purebred properly marked females, purebred mismarked females, percentage females, purebred steers, and cross-bred steers. The Jackpot Steer show will be eliminated, and the committee will offer premiums for all animals at the National Junior Show. The committee will set a fundraising goal to pay premiums. The committee raised $737.12 over expenses for the 2019 Kathi Jurkowski National Junior Show. A rule change regarding leased or owned/co-owned animals by a junior member was approved. All cattle to be exhibited by a junior member must be leased, or owned/co-owned, by the junior member, and on file with the CLRC, 60 days before the junior show.

Newsletter Committee. Leanne Fogle reported that Lifetime Awards and a How to Register a Belted Galloway bull informational page had been added to beltie.org. The BGS Twitter account has been updated and feeds from the Facebook page. Email spoofing has been done with the names of Council members in phishing and spam campaigns. Dawson Masters will address in a message within the newsletter. Junior members have been featured in the president's messages during 2019.

Show Committee. Council approved a revision of the 2019 Show Rules presented by President Dawson Masters. (Published on page 5 this issue.) The committee is having an on-going discussion regarding changing the Show Point System rules. The various regional groups were contacted. As proposals by the regions arrive, they will be referred to the Show Committee.

Sale Committee. The 2018 Belted Galloway Premium Sale gross receipts were $53,450. Fees for conducting the 2018 Belted Galloway Sale totaled $10,101.96. Internet bidding totaled an additional $2,500 which was covered through private donations. Consignors were charged a 10 percent consignment fee. Council approved holding a 2019 Belted Galloway Premium Sale and hiring Mike Jones (GA) as sales manager.

New Business.

1. Council approved a $1000 funding request for the NEGG National Sale.
2. Councilman Paul Tarap and Clete Kirschbaum (WI) presented the concept of interfacing a junior board with the BGS and the BGS Foundation to create a junior program. President Masters formed an exploratory committee for this purpose. Council asked the committee to continue working. The committee was asked to draft an article to appear in the US Beltie News asking if there is interest in starting a junior national. The article will also ask for nominations from regions to establish a junior board.

This is a summary of committee reports at the Council meeting of the Belted Galloway Society. The official minutes are on file with the Executive Director.
